

Call for papers
'Law, governance, and belonging' at SLSA 2020

University of Portsmouth
1st-3rd April 2020

Caroline Derry and Matthew Howard
ouls-belonging@open.ac.uk

The Socio-Legal Studies Association (SLSA) annual conference is being held in Portsmouth between 1st and 3rd of April 2020. Alongside a number of set streams, the conference is organised around current topics which speak to this year's theme 'law and society in the age of populism'.

Our 'Law, governance, and belonging' topic, in particular, encourages contributions from those with interests in questions of belonging, identity, citizenship, and community, and invites papers from a wide range of related disciplines.

Details about the topic and conference can be found via the following links:

SLSA 2020 conference website

'Law, governance, and belonging' topic

Call for papers

The deadline for submissions is 6pm on 10th January 2020.

We intend to develop a collection of essays from papers delivered at the conference. Details about this, including a call for papers, will be circulated early in the new year. In the meantime, if you wish to express early interest in submitting a paper for consideration to the collection, and/or have any questions related to our topic, please feel free to email Caroline Derry and Matthew Howard at ouls-belonging@open.ac.uk.