

Peace, Order & Conflict in Times of Crisis: Theory & Practice

International Summer School in Peace and Conflict Studies
Nicosia, 20-30 July, 2014

The University of Cyprus, in collaboration with the European Consortium for Political Research and the International Association of Peace and Conflict Studies organize a summer school in Peace and Conflict Studies. The purpose of this Summer School is to bring together leading academics in the interdisciplinary field of Peace and Conflict Studies with post-graduate students who are working in this area from varied disciplines, locations, and orientations. The objective is to develop a corpus of critical knowledge which will influence peacebuilding theory, methodology, ethics, and policy, as well as to have a broader impact on one of the key agendas of IR- peacemaking. To this end the subjects and themes of the summer school range from peace theory to policy analysis to field work experiences. This multi-levelled approach to the problems of peace and conflict studies – from theory to practice – will be channeled into all the various themes and subjects; in this way, the summer school forum will be both broad and deep in scope.

Target Group:

The Summer School seeks to attract reflective research students (MA or PhD), preferably with field experience, working on a broad range of issues pertaining to peace and peacebuilding. The aim is to broaden input rather than restrict, to bring together individuals with different disciplinary backgrounds and professional experiences.

Format:

The Summer School will be taught in intensive morning and afternoon sessions. It will be organized around Lectures and Seminars led by experts, and in addition include Roundtables with scholars and practitioners, Case Studies and choice of a Fieldtrip. One day will be allocated to students to present their own research work and receive feedback from the teaching faculty.

Teaching Faculty:

International Teaching Faculty: Rebecca Bryant (LSE), Roland Bleiker (University of Queensland), Avishai Ehrlich (University of Tel Aviv), Neophytos Loizides (University of Kent), Iver Neumann (LSE), Sandra Pogodda (University of Manchester), Oliver Richmond (University of Manchester), Shahrbanou Tadjbakhsh (Sciences Po).

Local Teaching Faculty: Constantinos Adamides, Odysseas Christou, Costas M. Constantinou, Olga Demetriou, Antonis Ellinas, Maria Hadjipavlou, Mete Hatay, Yiannis Papadakis, Charis Psaltis.

INTERNATIONAL SUMMER SCHOOL IN PEACE AND CONFLICT STUDIES

Cyprus:

The intractable Cyprus Problem provides an enticing backdrop to study issues of peace and conflict. Furthermore, the current financial crisis and the Middle East uprisings have recontextualized and reproblematised these issues. In the heart of a vibrant divided city, participants will be able to first-hand experience peace and conflict predicaments and reflect on wider issues from around the globe.

Credits:

Participants may opt to receive 8 ECTS credits upon completion of a research project.

Fees:

The participant fee for the Summer School is 850 Euro including accommodation, and 700 Euro without accommodation.

Accommodation:

The Summer School provides university student accommodation for the participants. If you opt for your own accommodation, here are some suggestions and special prices have been negotiated for Summer School participants:
