Welcome from the Local Organizer

Dear participants,

Welcome to Utrecht. We are pleased to have our historically rich city hosting the Second Biennial Conference of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance.

Utrecht has hosted many regulators, governors, and rulers before, ever since it was founded, two millennia ago by the Romans, as Ultrajectum, a border town of the Roman Empire on the Rhine. Ruled by these Romans, one of its aims was to extend order among the unruly German tribes on the other side. Some centuries later, it became the seat of bishop Willibrord, who spread Christian doctrine from here to the Frisians in the north. Ever since, Utrecht has been the seat of the ruler of the Dutch Roman Catholic church province, the only archbishop of the country. In 1579, shortly after the protestants had raided and squatted catholic churches, seven Netherlands' provinces united and concluded the Treaty of Utrecht, which became the de facto constitution of the Dutch Republic, which existed between 1581 and 1795. The city was not only a haven for rulers, but also for their critics, such as Descartes and Leibniz, and for deposed rulers. In a nearby castle the last German emperor passed the last 24 years of his life in solitude.

Not only ecclesiastic and worldly authorities housed in, and passed through, the city. So did goods and services. Utrecht is also an old marketplace, as a visit to the inner city will make clear. The canals - branches of the old Rhine - are bordered by warehouses below the street level. Where once foodstuffs were stored, now food is being served. But be sure, both are thoroughly regulated, now, as they were in the past in the past.

This city of governance is hence a suitable location for reflection upon regulation, deregulation, re-regulation, and responsive regulation. And where better to do that than in one of the oldest universities of the country, and its largest, Utrecht University, founded in 1636.

Old and venerable, the university has kept its innovative capacity. Within this old and large institution, a young and small one has emerged, University College, the location of our conference. This international honours college, founded in 1989 and housing and teaching 650 students, is an educational experiment, as such recognized by the Dutch Ministry of Education. As the first liberal arts and sciences college in the Netherlands it is the Dutch experiment with American style education. It is also in several other ways a first: the first residential college, and the first institution that has the right to select its students at the gate.

Now that the students are gone, the term is just over, and graduation takes place during the conference, at the theatre in the city, the location is available for our conference. We thank the college for allowing us to do use their premises, and here we would also like to gratefully acknowledge the support and assistance from a few other sponsors, the Utrecht School of Governance, the Utrecht Department of General Social Science, and the Public Administration Department of the Erasmus University in Rotterdam.

I wish you all a successful and inspiring conference and a pleasant stay in our relaxed city. I just hope that the weather will not be too Dutch.

Welcome from the Standing Group Convenors

Welcome,

We are delighted to welcome you to the second biennial conference of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulation at the University of Utrecht. The birth of this group goes back seven years, when we organized two small conferences, in Oxford and Barcelona, on the politics of regulation. The widespread attention that these conferences attracted was evidence of growing interest in the study of regulation and governance, in Europe as well as in other parts of the world. Gradually we came to understand and to appreciate that the study of regulation and governance is rapidly becoming a central issue in the social sciences.

We fully expect that this second Standing Group conference at the University of Utrecht will be as successful as the first one, which was held two years ago in Bath. Indeed, the large number of participants, the diversity of subjects and the quality of papers we have seen so far promise a lively intellectual exchange. We take it as yet another indication of the consolidation of the Standing Group and of the creation of a lively, strong and interdisciplinary community of scholars working on the analysis of regulatory governance. We would like to thank and acknowledge the work of the local organizing committee including Markus Haverland, Kutsal Yesilkagit, Youri Hildebrand, Moritz Knapp, Anne Poorta, Jen Boutyilkova and especially the leadership and excellent work of Professor Frans van Waarden, the academic convener of the conference.

Our third biennial conference will be held at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem in June 2010. We hope to see you there again, if not before.

Plenary Speakers

John Braithwaite

John Braithwaite is an Australian Research Council Federation Fellow and Founder of RegNet (the Regulatory Institutions Network) at the Australian National University. He is embarked upon a 20-year comparative project on Peacebuilding and Responsive Governance with Hilary Charlesworth, Valerie Braithwaite and Leah Dunn. Braithwaite's books have won a number of prizes in the US and Europe from the Society for the Study of Social Problems, the American Sociological Association, the Law and Society Association, the American Society of Criminology, the Socio-Legal Studies Association and most recently the Grawemeyer Award for Ideas for Improving World Order (with Peter Drahos) and the first Stockholm Prize for Criminology. He served between 1983 and 1987 as a member of the Economic Planning Advisory Council which was chaired by the Prime Minister, was a Part-time Commissioner with the Trade Practices Commission (ACCC, Australia's national antitrust and consumer protection agency) between 1985 and 1995 and served as a member of the Council on Business Regulation (1994-1996) which reported directly to Cabinet on a review of all laws which impose a regulatory impact on business. He has been active for 40 years in social movement politics in Australia and internationally.

Giandomenico Majone

Born in 1932, is a graduate in political economy (University of Padua) and mathematics (Carnegie Institute of Technology). He took his doctorate in statistics at the University of California at Berkeley (1964). He taught at Rome University (1965-1975) and continued his research at the Russell Sage Foundation, New York (1977-1978), and the International Institute for Advanced Systems Analysis, Laxenburg, Austria (1983-1984). He has been visiting professor at the J.F. Kennedy School of Government of Harvard University, at Yale University, at the Wissenschaftszentrum Berlin, and at the Centre for Interdisciplinary Research at the University of Bielefeld. He was Professor of Public Policy Analysis at the European University Institute (1986-1995). When he left the Institute he was nominated external professor. In addition he holds a chair as Visiting Distinguished Professor at the EU Center and Graduate School of Public and International Affairs in the University of Pittsburgh. He is the author of, among others, "Dilemmas of European Integration" (Oxford University Press, 2005) and "Regulating Europe" (Routledge, 1996).

Keynote Speech by Prof. John Braithwaite

THE HISTORY OF REGULATION AROUND THE GLOBE

John Braithwaite
Australian National University

Market liberalization has certainly been part of the history of both the last three decades as in the title of our conference, but also of the last three centuries. More vibrant markets in goods come with more vibrant markets in bads. While vibrant markets in goods and services have delivered prosperity and peace to a more interconnected Europe and a more interconnected world, and therefore legitimacy for elites, more vibrant markets in bads engender legitimacy crises. These are often responded to by regulation that seeks to control the bads (however bads are politically defined). Regulatory capitalist legitimacy crises tend to be cyclical. Each crisis cycle tends to ratchet regulation up a notch. During the lulls between crises, attempts are made to deregulate and to innovate into smarter regulatory technologies that temper the economic costs of the regulatory ratchet. Key themes:

- Liberalization in Holland and England compared to Spain, Portugal and France (Acemoglu, Daron, Simon Johnson and James Robinson 2004 Institutions as the Fundamental Cause of Long-Run Growth (Cambridge: National Bureau of Economic Research, Working Paper No 10481, 2004), 66–70).
- Liberalization and colonialism – liberal white settler colonialism with ethnic cleansing in poor colonies, monopolistic extractive institutions in rich colonies
- Regulation and the corporatization of the world
- The welfare state and regulatory capitalism (Levi-Faur and Jordana)
- Privatizing the public and publicizing the private
- How to flip markets in vice to markets in virtue
- Why the crises of regulatory capitalism are cyclical
- Is a regulatory capitalism, where markets are stronger and regulation stronger, a good thing? Scholarship on improving versus scholarship on understanding regulatory capitalism.

Practical Information:

We would like to refer you to the Cityguide Utrecht 2008 for all information on the city of Utrecht, a map of the city, entertainment and tourist attractions. Below you will find traveling details to and from the conference location.

Getting to University College Utrecht Campus (Conference Location)

From the Utrecht Centraal-Railwaystation:

Take bus (line 4, direction Fockema Andreaalaan). Exit at the Prins Hendriklaan bus stop, follow the Prins Hendriklaan (streetname) in the direction of the underpass,* shortly after which you will see the entrance to the University College campus on your right.

From the City Centre:

You can get on the bus (line 4, direction Fockema Andreaalaan) at the bus stops Neude, Janskerkhof or Stadsschouwburg. Follow directions above.

NOTE: Guests staying at NH Utrecht Hotel or Park Plaza Hotel should walk to the railway station and take the bus from there.

Guests staying around the city centre can get on the bus at Neude or Janskerkhof.

* TOURISTIC NOTE: Right before the underpass on the left side of the road you will find the Rietveld-Schröder house, a famous architectural work from 1924 placed on the World Heritage List by UNESCO in 2000 as 'an important and unique icon in Western architectural history and a masterpiece of human creativity.'

Below you will find a map of the Campus and its surroundings. Please note that the only entrance to the Campus is from the Prins Hendriklaan.

Restaurants

In the vicinity of the campus we would recommend the following restaurants:

Parkcafé Buiten: Prins Hendriklaan 2

Walk along the Prins Hendriklaan, crossing a few streets until the Wilhelmina Park; Parkcafé will be on the corner on your right.

Café/Restaurant Vroom: Jan van Scorelstraat 33

Walk along the Prins Hendriklaan until the traffic lights; Vroom will be on the corner on your left on the other side of the street.

Julii: Jan van Scorelstraat 21

Cross the street at the traffic lights and turn to the right, Julii will be a few steps away.

In the city centre a wide range of restaurants are available. We advise you to walk along and around the Oude Gracht (the main canal flowing through the centre, see the map in the city-guide of Utrecht) to find a restaurant of your choice.

Use of Internet at University College

On the first floor of the conference venue building, there is the possibility to access the internet on any of the computers. Please use the following login-in information:
